Where I See Myself In Ten Years

DEVON HULVER

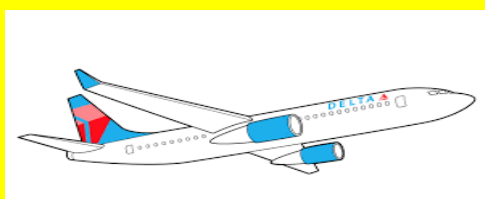

In ten years, I see myself in a high culinary position job, hopefully in a fancy restaurant or something similar. I look to be in a comfortable position in life as the people surrounding me allow that to happen. I believe I will have a Tesla by this time in life, as my mom would by the law of averages become richer by now with her level of growth. I hope to have a significant other, but I don't know if I would want to get married at this point, another couple of years to really settle in my 30's. I believe I will be in an apartment and MIGHT have a kid.

Where I See Myself in Ten Years

DANTE MCMILLAN

Ten years from now, I will be a flight attendant for Delta.

I might have my same car, BMW 550i and I might buy a GTR.

I think I would get married by then. I don't think I'll have kids that early in my life. I'll buy a house in New Jersey.

Poem by Truth

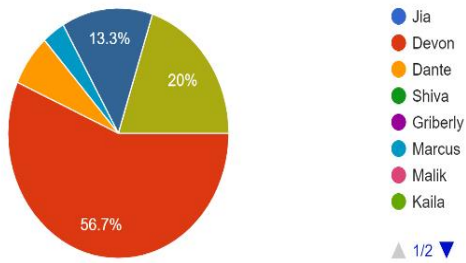

By: Malik Wajeh

Give a man a voice, he takes it too far
Give a man a microphone, he breaks others ear drums
Give a woman a voice, she changes the world
Give a man wings, he may fly to close to the sun
Give a man the gift of prophecy, he may live in fear of the future
Give a man the greatest gift of all, power beyond imagination and he may believe he's destined to rule the world!
Time is the construct made full by our lives
What we choose to leave behind has a lasting affect
Dates matter not, the events we choose to define us, holds the true value of time. Don't focus on the date, focus on your time here, in the moment, with your family, your friends, and most important, yourself!!
